Dear Majority Leader McConnell, Minority Leader Schumer, Speaker Pelosi, and Minority Leader McCarthy,

We are writing in strong support of the RELIEF for Main Street Act, a bipartisan effort developed by Senators Booker, Daines, and Murray and Representatives Kildee, Fitzpatrick, Evans, and Upton. The COVID-19 crisis is wreaking havoc on small businesses across cities, suburban municipalities and rural towns, particularly micro businesses that employ fewer than 20 employees and offer services vital for our communities -- restaurants, bars, coffee shops, barbershops, hair salons, auto repair shops, family farms, dry cleaners and many others. By empowering local leaders to administer flexible relief funds, and by targeting funding to only the smallest of businesses, the RELIEF for Main Street Act will provide immediate support to those less likely to benefit from existing programs, including very small, minority-owned, and rural businesses.

The proposal builds on what is already working. Across the country, states, cities, counties, and towns have established local relief funds to provide emergency support to small businesses impacted by COVID-19. These local funds, including those in our own cities and states, are led by a range of stakeholders, including city and county governments, public authorities, philanthropies, financial institutions and business chambers of commerce. Recognizing that no two communities are alike, local relief funds are tailored based on local capacity and the financial needs and conditions of local borrowers. All of these funds leverage distribution channels beyond traditional financial institutions, enabling them to reach a broader set of businesses more quickly, and with resources that meet the particular needs of very small businesses unexpectedly on the financial brink.

But local efforts are massively oversubscribed. Many of our local relief funds received requests for more funding than was available within days or even minutes of the application becoming available. The RELIEF for Main Street Act would build on our existing efforts by sending $50 billion in direct assistance to cities, counties and states to seed and scale local funds. This will enable more small businesses to survive this economic crisis, ensuring that the recovery will be quicker and more evenly distributed across cities, suburbs and rural areas and regions of the country. It will also enable our communities to evolve products and strategies that are more aligned with the reopening of the economy, particularly around the revival of Main Streets and other key business districts.

In concert with necessary state and local fiscal relief, the RELIEF for Main Street Act is a necessary complement to the small business support legislation you have already enacted and, given the urgency experienced by our Main Street businesses, strongly urge its inclusion in the next round of Congressional legislation.

Sincerely,
